Try the Opposite! Engaging our students with alternative activities sometimes takes more time than we have. One way to save time is create by following the admonition in the title. So the alternate activities we create are related to your day-to-day teaching, please bring one of the textbooks you use to the workshop.

John F. Fanselow directed the MA in TESOL at Teachers College, Columbia University in New York and established the MA in TESOL in Tokyo. He is now a visiting professor in the MA in TESOL at Akita International University.
